

SUGARS DOWN
COFFEE CHEAPER.
TRY OUR 40 Ct.
Young Hyson
TEA
IT IS GOOD.
Fresh Oysters,
25 Cents
PER QUART
AT EITHER STORE.
C. W. PAYNTER & CO.,
BARGAIN STORES,
91 and 93 West Main Street, and 40 South Market Street, Springfield, Ohio.

MEN'S UNDERWEAR

The "Chesterfield" in all grades. Complete lines of Camel's Hair, Scarlet, White and Clouded Merinos, and winter weight Balbriggan.
Haynes
The Shirt Maker, Hatter and Furnisher, 5 East Main Street.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN.

WANTED
WANTED—Boy of about 16 to help agent distribute. Address Distributor, care Republic office.
WANTED—Some lace curtains to cut like new; also shirts, collars and cuffs, like laundry. Mrs. Carman, 29 North Market street.
WANTED—Clothes and mechanics to know that the tuition fees for night school are $10.00 and $20.00 one-half down, balance in monthly payments. Nelson College, Arcade.
WANTED—Competent girl to cook and do general housework. Apply at once at No. 4 North Market street.
WANTED—Lady, active and intelligent, to represent in her own locality, an old firm, references given and required; permanent position and good salary. J. G. Hunsaker, Superintendent, N. Y.
WANTED—Two good men to canvass the city for a first-class sewing machine; one per week will afford $100.00 and $150.00 south Market street at 7 o'clock every evening.
WANTED—MAN—To take the agency of our safety razor. One dollar for balance $50. retail price $20.00; other sales in proportion.
A rare chance to create a permanent business at home. These sales meet a demand never before supplied by other advertisements, as we are not governed by the Safe Pool. Alpine Safe Co., Cincinnati, O.
WANTED—A reliable man to represent our nursery in this section. Something permanent. Chas. H. Smart & Co., nursery men, Newark, New York, established 1853.
WANTED—All kinds of clothes wringers to repair; called for and delivered; orders by mail promptly attended to. S. M. Miller, 14 West Main.

FOR SALE
FOR SALE—One nickel mounted, 5 foot above sea; also one 3 foot clear case. 260a Call at 107 Limestone street.

FOR SALE
FOR SALE—Family buggy horse, 8 years old; carriage, single seat, harness, call at 229 West High Street Oct. 11, from 1 to 5 p.m. 260a

FOR SALE
FOR SALE—Will take a good vacant lot for first payment and long time for balance 50 percent interest, a good eight-room house with attic, large front and back porches, stable, grape arbor, red clothes line, fruit trees, a nice lawn; lot about four feet higher than street. Address F. W. Hill, office, 260a

FOR SALE
FOR SALE—FARM—100 acres, 5 miles south of Dayton, O.; two complete sets of farm buildings; excellent tobacco land. Call on or address A. L. Clarke, 3 or 5 Arcade building, Springfield, Ohio. 260a

FOR RENT
FOR RENT—Three unfurnished rooms. Inquired at 35 West Southern avenue. 260b

FOR RENT
FOR RENT—Room; a very desirable, nicely furnished front room, suitable for one or two gentlemen, at 14 South Market street, one square from Arcade. Reference required. Inquired the premises of J. G. Clark. 260c

FOR RENT
FOR RENT—The large and handsome house of nine rooms, hydrant and cistern water, double cellar, large closets, six mantels and grates, gas throughout the house. Will rent low to good tenant. Call at the southwest corner of Main and Pleasant streets. 260c

FOR RENT
FOR RENT—Nice furnished front room, suitable for young men, at No. 19 Spring st. 260c

FOR RENT
FOR RENT—A new house of 5 rooms on East street, within one square of the New Champion shops, city and cistern water and good cellar. Inquire of Thomas Sharp. 260c

FOR RENT
FOR RENT—House of eight rooms, in good repair, within 1 square of the postoffice.
For further particulars, see or address J. E.
Heddenberg, Springfield, O. 260c

FOR RENT
FOR RENT—Two, three or four furnished rooms for housekeeping, centrally located.
Reference required. Address S. S., this office.
260c

FOR RENT
FOR RENT—From one to four rooms, centrally located, with first class accommodations; rent cheap; none but good paying tenants need apply. Inquire of Theo. Sharpe.

MONEY TO LOAN
MONEY TO LOAN—In sums of $500 to $7,000, on three to five year term, on first mortgage or approved commercial paper. George H. Coles, room No. 1, Lagoon bank building.

HOUSE CLEANING
Every aid to house cleaning is a blessing.
Whatever helps to lessen labor and make the work easier should be secured.
Casper's Cleaning Compound.
This is a very superior article. It removes grease spots, stains, foot marks and dirt. It brightens up the color and gives a fresh, new look. It is easily applied with a sponge and does the work rapidly without taking up the carpet. It is cheap—see a gallon, 1 gallon bottles, 50c. Dr. Casper has made a specialty of this for years.
SAPOLIO.
This will clean painted wood work in half the time of ordinary soap. Neither does it make the paint yellow. It is also extra good for cleaning windows. Only 10c a cake or 3 for 50c at Casper's.
Tough Sponges, Chamotte Sponges, Furniture Polish, Gritte Vaseline, Aqua Ammonia, and other aids, all for sale at CASPER'S Drug Store,
Fisher's Block, Main Street, 2d Door West of Limestone, Springfield, Ohio.

COMING EVENTS.

GRAND—Thursday, October 13, Sweatman, Rice and Fagan's minstrels.

BLACKS—Friday, October 14, Murray and Murphy, "Our Irish Visitors."

SPRINGFIELD MEETINGS.
Tuesday, October 11—Evening, at wigwam: Senator Sherman, ex-Governor E. F.
Noyes.

Monday, October 17—Afternoon and evening: General W. H. Gibson and Major Wm. McKinley. Afternoon meeting on Monument Square, evening meeting at wigwam.

Friday, October 14—Evening, at wigwam: Hon. George C. Rawlins, Judge John C. Miller and J. H. Rabbitts, esq.

Wednesday, November 2—Evening, at wigwam: Governor J. B. Foraker.

Wednesday, October 12—Evening, at Dolly Varden: J. F. McGraw, esq., and Judge John C. Miller.

Wednesday, October 12—Evening, at Catawba: E. S. Wallace, esq., and Hon. W.
L. Weaver.

Thursday, October 13—Evening, at School district No. 5: J. H. Rabbitts, esq., and O. F. Service.

Saturday, October 15—Evening, at South Charleston: Hon. D. K. Watson and Oscar T. Martin, esq.

Friday, October 21—Evening, at Hon.
Charles: Gen. C. H. Grosvenor and Hon.
D. K. Watson.

LOCAL BRIEVITIES.

Mr. O. F. Hynes spent Sunday in Xenia, with his parents.

Mr. Asa Little, of Yellow Springs, was in the city to-day.

Mr. W. M. Hayner was in Yellow Springs today on business.

The Ferrell Fishing club left this morning for the Lewistown reservoir.

Mr. Arthur Worthington and wife are visiting friends in Mt. Vernon, Ohio.

Mr. F. T. Bretney and family, of Xenia, spent Sunday with relatives in this city.

Rev. Mr. Lenard, of Kansas City, Mo., filled the Wiley Chapel pulpit Sunday morning.

Mrs. Charles R. John went to Jackson Saturday, and will spend several weeks there with her parents.

Mr. E. H. Piper and family, of Xenia, were the guests yesterday of Mr. W. D.
Piper, of Dayton avenue.

Mr. G. T. Hook, wife and son, of Xenia, were the guests over Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Brown, of South Plum street.

The editor of the REPUBLIC is indebted to Mr. C. A. Rogers, of the famous and extensive Innisfallen greenhouses, for a quantity of imported bulbs.

Rev. Dr. Finley's remarks at the Christian church on the character of St. Paul, night, were listened to with rapid attention. He promises at some day in the near future a lecture on the great apostle.

Rev. S. S. Gibson, who is on the editorial staff of that excellent paper, the Herald and Prospector, Cincinnati, preached Sunday morning and evening in the First Free baptist church in this city, very much to the edification of the audience.

The Cincinnati Conservatory of Music will give a grand concert in Black's Opera House on the evening of the 3rd of November for the benefit of the musical department of Wittenberg College known as the Wittenberg Conservatory of Music.

Miss Webster, who graduated from Oberlin College last summer, and who is now connected with the Express newspaper at Oberlin, has been spending a few days with friends in this city. She is one of the leaders of the Ya (who) Young Christian Temperance women.

The Drs. Dunlap, of Springfield, assisted by Dr. J. M. Moore of this city, last Wednesday operated on Mrs. Richard Lamar, of this county, for cancer. The right breast was entirely removed and the operation occupied over two hours. The patient at last accounts was doing well.—Urban Citizen.

Mr. John B. Allen, for so many years actively connected with the old First National Bank, and of late with the Xenia National Bank as president, has resigned that position and gives up all active connection with the concern. Hon. John Little has been elected president of the Xenia Bank in his place.—Xenia Gazette.

Dress Well.
"Clothy thy habit as thy purse can buy,
But not expressed in fancy; rich, not gaudy;
For the apparel oft proclaims the man."
—Shakespeare.

Nature has not been so lavish in her gifts that we can afford to despise them, and any assistance that we can render, in the way of making our personal appearance as attractive as possible, should be cheerfully accepted.

As our friend Shakespeare says, a man should dress as well as his means will justify, and there is no surer means of attaining this end than by examining the select new fall shipments of the justly celebrated Clay Worsteds for dress purposes; the elegant line of overcoatings, gray, black and blue. E. K. Bates, Hatter and Clothier, has now offered to the public by Jason W. Phillips, No. 29 East Main street.

These goods are the newest, dressiest and most genteel patterns that money can buy, and to the purchaser a stylish, well-made,
perfectly-fitting garment is assured.

ORDERS TO THE POLICE.

Hall Call and General Government of the Day and Night Patrolmen.

The following orders, which are self-explanatory, were issued by Chief of Police Ambrose last evening at roll call:

SPRINGFIELD, O., Oct. 9, 1887.
General Order No. 7.

First—On and after Oct. 10, 1887, the day patrolmen will report for duty at 7 o'clock a. m. promptly, and remain on their respective beats, not leaving the same, except in line of duty.

Second—Day patrolmen at 12 o'clock a. m. will take one hour for dinner and report at police headquarters at 1 o'clock p. m., to roll call, after which the officers having no cases in the police court will go at once on their respective beats, and remain on duty until 6:30 p. m. and report for roll call at 6:45 p. m. By order of:
O. S. KELLY, Chief of Police.

SPRINGFIELD, O., Oct. 9, 1887.
General Order No. 8.

First—On and after the 10th day of October, 1887, the night patrolmen will report for duty at 6:30 p. m.

Second—Each night patrolman will prepare his beat on his beat and be ready to maintain thereof, not leaving the same except in line of duty.

Third—The night patrolmen will report for roll call at 5 o'clock a. m., at which time one night officer will be detailed to remain on duty at police headquarters until relieved by the day patrolmen. By order of:
O. S. KELLY, Chief of Police.

Important Meeting of the Champion City Guards.

The Champion City guards will hold an important meeting next Wednesday evening to arrange for a dancing reception for the drill corps on their return from Chicago. A full attendance is desired.

Read Commandery No. 6, Knights Tem-plar, of Dayton, passed through the city this morning at 11 o'clock, on the special train en route for Columbus, to attend the 45th annual convocation of the commanderies of Ohio.

Mr. John Barnett, of near Urbana, arrived home Saturday evening from his trip to Los Angeles and through the west generally. He has accepted an editorial position with the Farm and Firework, this city.

Graham Deuell, esq., of Columbus, spent Sunday in this city, attending the meeting of the colored Knights of Pythias.
Mr. Deuell takes the stump for Governor Foraker and the republican party.

Mr. Pettiford, of Yellow Springs, was in the city this morning. He is here for the purpose of securing Mr. D. E. Smith as a teacher in the colored schools of that village.

Palatine Commandery No. 33, Knights Templar, of this city, will leave for Columbus, to attend the convocation of Ohio commanderies, at 6:30 tomorrow morning.

Misses Lois and Alice Yoss, Miss Lizzie Miller and Mrs. America Brown went Dayton this forenoon to attend to their musical studies with Prof. Hunschen.

Mr. George H. Knight, the Bee Line agent, who accompanied the California party as far as Kansas City last week, returned yesterday morning.

Mrs. R. B. Robinson of Jackson, Michigan, is the guest of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Johnson, of Stanton avenue.

John Shaw, a brother of Mr. W. M.
Shaw, of north Market street, died recently in Australia from the effects of an accident.

Messrs. Steve Minney and C. A. Graves will leave in a few days for California, where they will probably spend the winter.

Capt. and Mrs. T. J. Kirkpatrick spent Sunday at the residence of the Misses Barrett, east of the city.

Miss Lizzie Shellbarger, of Washington, D. C., is the guest of Rev. James L. Rodger, and family.

Messrs. A. Downey and A. L. Folk left this morning via the Pan Handle for Mc-Kinzie, Tenn.

Mr. W. F. Fuss leaves this evening for Atlanta, Ga., on business.

100 Doses One Dollar is inseparably connected with Hood's Sarsaparilla, and is true of no other medicine. A bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla contains 100 doses, and will last a month, while others will average to last not over a week. Use only Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Fits—All fits stopped free by Dr. Kline's Great Nerve Restorer. No fits after first day's use. Marvelous cures. Treatise and $2 trial bottle, sent free to all cases. Send to Dr. Kline, 931 Arch street, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

A CARD.—To all who are suffering from cancer and indigestion of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, etc., I will send a receipt that will cure you, free of charge. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America.
Send self-addressed envelope to Rev.
Joseph T. Inman, Station D, New York City.

Send Harris Green smoke.

The Chinaman's Moral Ledger.
A good Chinaman, after his day's work, opens his moral ledger, so the Rev. Dr.
D. B. informs us. Here are a few of the items which he can write down to his credit: Ten points because he paid his father's debts; 100 because when he was rich he was married a deformed (ugly) girl to whom he was betrothed when poor. For leading an umbrella it was only 1 point; for having saved the lives of 100 persons, 1 point; for having picked up a crain five, 1 point; for not having eaten beef or dog for one year, 5 points; for having destroyed immoral books, 300 points. Now per contra: To have loved his wife more than his father and mother is to dock himself not less than 100 points.
To have seen immoral theatricals figures against him 50 points. If he got drunk that week he loses 5 points. If he had drowned a baby only 10 points. If he had issued counterfeit money that would have made him lose 100 points. To dig up a worm he loses 1 point. If in winter he had let his wife sit in the cold he would lose 10 points. If he had seen a beggar and not helped him he would lose 5 points.
—New York Times.

EMBARCING THE MAILS.

SCENES ON AN OCEAN STEAMER AT QUEENSTOWN.

A Peep at the Steerage Passengers—As the Tender Draws Alongside—Fresh Beauty of Irish Children—Counting the Mail Bags—Outward Bound.

He must be a very unimpassioned person whose interest is not roused by the scene on an American mail steamer on the day after she leaves Liverpool, as she steams along the Irish coast in the bright sunlight of a morning. The varying forms and colors of headland and shore would alone be worthy of notice; but the curious mass of humanity gathered on the great ship is perhaps more interesting. And it must be admitted that the saloon passengers, taken as a whole, have to the observer less of interest and character than the steerage passengers, who collect in the less favored quarters of the ship. There is a monotonous appearance of comfort and prosperity about the passenger in the steerage, who is not content with his lot, but who is full of chair—which renders them a little dull.
But every step among the steerage passengers gives rise to a guess or a reflection. Here a sturdy fellow from a Yorkshire iron works on his way to the states to seek for employment. Close by the saloon door is a laborer from Wiltshire, a tall, raw-boned, couple of children and a weary wife. The whole family has an air of despondency about them which does not augur well for their future. A couple of Italian sailors, with their poking with very light hearts indeed; and so on by one, each differing from the other—sad or glad, hopeful or despondent, all of whom are in the fullness of feeling that across the ocean life cannot be harder than at home—the miscellaneous throng moves about the ship.

MOVEMENT AND REST.
But the white buildings on Roche's point gleaming in the sunlight tell that the vessel is nearing Queenstown, and a feeling of movement and bustle comes over the passengers. The ship is now in the open sea, there is an eagerness to see
the last British port, a haste to post the
last letters to friends in England. The
ship slowly steams up the harbor past the
heights of Carlisle fort, and on as if she
were bound straight to the white towers
of Queenstown. Gradually she comes to
a standstill between the little village of Whiteside
and the black sides of Spike island. The
tender is approaching; but already boats
full of natives are selling apples and
baskets of bog oak ornaments and lace,
have surrounded the ship. As the tender
draws alongside it is evident that the mails
are not yet received, for a pile of
luggage and a crowd of passengers. Some
are English or Americans who have
crossed through Ireland to shorten the
voyage, others are natives of the west
of Ireland, who are going to the States
by the mail ship. The mail bags are
being carried to the ship, and the natives
are pushing their way to the ship to
sell their wares. The ship is now in the
open sea, there is an eagerness to see
the last British port, a haste to post the
last letters to friends in England. The
ship slowly steams up the harbor past the
heights of Carlisle fort, and on as if she
were bound straight to the white towers
of Queenstown. Gradually she comes to
a standstill between the little village of Whiteside
and the black sides of Spike island. The
tender is approaching; but already boats
full of natives are selling apples and
baskets of bog oak ornaments and lace,
have surrounded the ship. As the tender
draws alongside it is evident that the mails
are not yet received, for a pile of
luggage and a crowd of passengers. Some
are English or Americans who have
crossed through Ireland to shorten the
voyage, others are natives of the west
of Ireland, who are going to the States
by the mail ship. The mail bags are
being carried to the ship, and the natives
are pushing their way to the ship to
sell their wares. The ship is now in the
open sea, there is an eagerness to see
the last British port, a haste to post the
last letters to friends in England. The
ship slowly steams up the harbor past the
heights of Carlisle fort, and on as if she
were bound straight to the white towers
of Queenstown. Gradually she comes to
a standstill between the little village of Whiteside
and the black sides of Spike island. The
tender is approaching; but already boats
full of natives are selling apples and
baskets of bog oak ornaments and lace,
have surrounded the ship. As the tender
draws alongside it is evident that the mails
are not yet received, for a pile of
luggage and a crowd of passengers. Some
are English or Americans who have
crossed through Ireland to shorten the
voyage, others are natives of the west
of Ireland, who are going to the States
by the mail ship. The mail bags are
being carried to the ship, and the natives
are pushing their way to the ship to
sell their wares. The ship is now in the
open sea, there is an eagerness to see
the last British port, a haste to post the
last letters to friends in England. The
ship slowly steams up the harbor past the
heights of Carlisle fort, and on as if she
were bound straight to the white towers
of Queenstown. Gradually she comes to
a standstill between the little village of Whiteside
and the black sides of Spike island. The
tender is approaching; but already boats
full of natives are selling apples and
baskets of bog oak ornaments and lace,
have surrounded the ship. As the tender
draws alongside it is evident that the mails
are not yet received, for a pile of
luggage and a crowd of passengers. Some
are English or Americans who have
crossed through Ireland to shorten the
voyage, others are natives of the west
of Ireland, who are going to the States
by the mail ship. The mail bags are
being carried to the ship, and the natives
are pushing their way to the ship to
sell their wares. The ship is now in the
open sea, there is an eagerness to see
the last British port, a haste to post the
last letters to friends in England. The
ship slowly steams up the harbor past the
heights of Carlisle fort, and on as if she
were bound straight to the white towers
of Queenstown. Gradually she comes to
a standstill between the little village of Whiteside
and the black sides of Spike island. The
tender is approaching; but already boats
full of natives are selling apples and
baskets of bog oak ornaments and lace,
have surrounded the ship. As the tender
draws alongside it is evident that the mails
are not yet received, for a pile of
luggage and a crowd of passengers. Some
are English or Americans who have
crossed through Ireland to shorten the
voyage, others are natives of the west
of Ireland, who are going to the States
by the mail ship. The mail bags are
being carried to the ship, and the natives
are pushing their way to the ship to
sell their wares. The ship is now in the
open sea, there is an eagerness to see
the last British port, a haste to post the
last letters to friends in England. The
ship slowly steams up the harbor past the
heights of Carlisle fort, and on as if she
were bound straight to the white towers
of Queenstown. Gradually she comes to
a standstill between the little village of Whiteside
and the black sides of Spike island. The
tender is approaching; but already boats
full of natives are selling apples and
baskets of bog oak ornaments and lace,
have surrounded the ship. As the tender
draws alongside it is evident that the mails
are not yet received, for a pile of
luggage and a crowd of passengers. Some
are English or Americans who have
crossed through Ireland to shorten the
voyage, others are natives of the west
of Ireland, who are going to the States
by the mail ship. The mail bags are
being carried to the ship, and the natives
are pushing their way to the ship to
sell their wares. The ship is now in the
open sea, there is an eagerness to see
the last British port, a haste to post the
last letters to friends in England. The
ship slowly steams up the harbor past the
heights of Carlisle fort, and on as if she
were bound straight to the white towers
of Queenstown. Gradually she comes to
a standstill between the little village of Whiteside
and the black sides of Spike island. The
tender is approaching; but already boats
full of natives are selling apples and
baskets of bog oak ornaments and lace,
have surrounded the ship. As the tender
draws alongside it is evident that the mails
are not yet received, for a pile of
luggage and a crowd of passengers. Some
are English or Americans who have
crossed through Ireland to shorten the
voyage, others are natives of the west
of Ireland, who are going to the States
by the mail ship. The mail bags are
being carried to the ship, and the natives
are pushing their way to the ship to
sell their wares. The ship is now in the
open sea, there is an eagerness to see
the last British port, a haste to post the
last letters to friends in England. The
ship slowly steams up the harbor past the
heights of Carlisle fort, and on as if she
were bound straight to the white towers
of Queenstown. Gradually she comes to
a standstill between the little village of Whiteside
and the black sides of Spike island. The
tender is approaching; but already boats
full of natives are selling apples and
baskets of bog oak ornaments and lace,
have surrounded the ship. As the tender
draws alongside it is evident that the mails
are not yet received, for a pile of
luggage and a crowd of passengers. Some
are English or Americans who have
crossed through Ireland to shorten the
voyage, others are natives of the west
of Ireland, who are going to the States
by the mail ship. The mail bags are
being carried to the ship, and the natives
are pushing their way to the ship to
sell their wares. The ship is now in the
open sea, there is an eagerness to see
the last British port, a haste to post the
last letters to friends in England. The
ship slowly steams up the harbor past the
heights of Carlisle fort, and on as if she
were bound straight to the white towers
of Queenstown. Gradually she comes to
a standstill between the little village of Whiteside
and the black sides of Spike island. The
tender is approaching; but already boats
full of natives are selling apples and
baskets of bog oak ornaments and lace,
have surrounded the ship. As the tender
draws alongside it is evident that the mails
are not yet received, for a pile of
luggage and a crowd of passengers. Some
are English or Americans who have
crossed through Ireland to shorten the
voyage, others are natives of the west
of Ireland, who are going to the States
by the mail ship. The mail bags are
being carried to the ship, and the natives
are pushing their way to the ship to
sell their wares. The ship is now in the
open sea, there is an eagerness to see
the last British port, a haste to post the
last letters to friends in England. The
ship slowly steams up the harbor past the
heights of Carlisle fort, and on as if she
were bound straight to the white towers
of Queenstown. Gradually she comes to
a standstill between the little village of Whiteside
and the black sides of Spike island. The
tender is approaching; but already boats
full of natives are selling apples and
baskets of bog oak ornaments and lace,
have surrounded the ship. As the tender
draws alongside it is evident that the mails
are not yet received, for a pile of
luggage and a crowd of passengers. Some
are English or Americans who have
crossed through Ireland to shorten the
voyage, others are natives of the west
of Ireland, who are going to the States
by the mail ship. The mail bags are
being carried to the ship, and the natives
are pushing their way to the ship to
sell their wares. The ship is now in the
open sea, there is an eagerness to see
the last British port, a haste to post the
last letters to friends in England. The
ship slowly steams up the harbor past the
heights of Carlisle fort, and on as if she
were bound straight to the white towers
of Queenstown. Gradually she comes to
a standstill between the little village of Whiteside
and the black sides of Spike island. The
tender is approaching; but already boats
full of natives are selling apples and
baskets of bog oak ornaments and lace,
have surrounded the ship. As the tender
draws alongside it is evident that the mails
are not yet received, for a pile of
luggage and a crowd of passengers. Some
are English or Americans who have
crossed through Ireland to shorten the
voyage, others are natives of the west
of Ireland, who are going to the States
by the mail ship. The mail bags are
being carried to the ship, and the natives
are pushing their way to the ship to
sell their wares. The ship is now in the
open sea, there is an eagerness to see
the last British port, a haste to post the
last letters to friends in England. The
ship slowly steams up the harbor past the
heights of Carlisle fort, and on as if she
were bound straight to the white towers
of Queenstown. Gradually she comes to
a standstill between the little village of Whiteside
and the black sides of Spike island. The
tender is approaching; but already boats
full of natives are selling apples and
baskets of bog oak ornaments and lace,
have surrounded the ship. As the tender
draws alongside it is evident that the mails
are not yet received, for a pile of
luggage and a crowd of passengers. Some
are English or Americans who have
crossed through Ireland to shorten the
voyage, others are natives of the west
of Ireland, who are going to the States
by the mail ship. The mail bags are
being carried to the ship, and the natives
are pushing their way to the ship to
sell their wares. The ship is now in the
open sea, there is an eagerness to see
the last British port, a haste to post the
last letters to friends in England. The
ship slowly steams up the harbor past the
heights of Carlisle fort, and on as if she
were bound straight to the white towers
of Queenstown. Gradually she comes to
a standstill between the little village of Whiteside
and the black sides of Spike island. The
tender is approaching; but already boats
full of natives are selling apples and
baskets of bog oak ornaments and lace,
have surrounded the ship. As the tender
draws alongside it is evident that the mails
are not yet received, for a pile of
luggage and a crowd of passengers. Some
are English or Americans who have
crossed through Ireland to shorten the
voyage, others are natives of the west
of Ireland, who are going to the States
by the mail ship. The mail bags are
being carried to the ship, and the natives
are pushing their way to the ship to
sell their wares. The ship is now in the
open sea, there is an eagerness to see
the last British port, a haste to post the
last letters to friends in England. The
ship slowly steams up the harbor past the
heights of Carlisle fort, and on as if she
were bound straight to the white towers
of Queenstown. Gradually she comes to
a standstill between the little village of Whiteside
and the black sides of Spike island. The
tender is approaching; but already boats
full of natives are selling apples and
baskets of bog oak ornaments and lace,
have surrounded the ship. As the tender
draws alongside it is evident that the mails
are not yet received, for a pile of
luggage and a crowd of passengers. Some
are English or Americans who have crossed through